

Is Your Mine Really Connected?

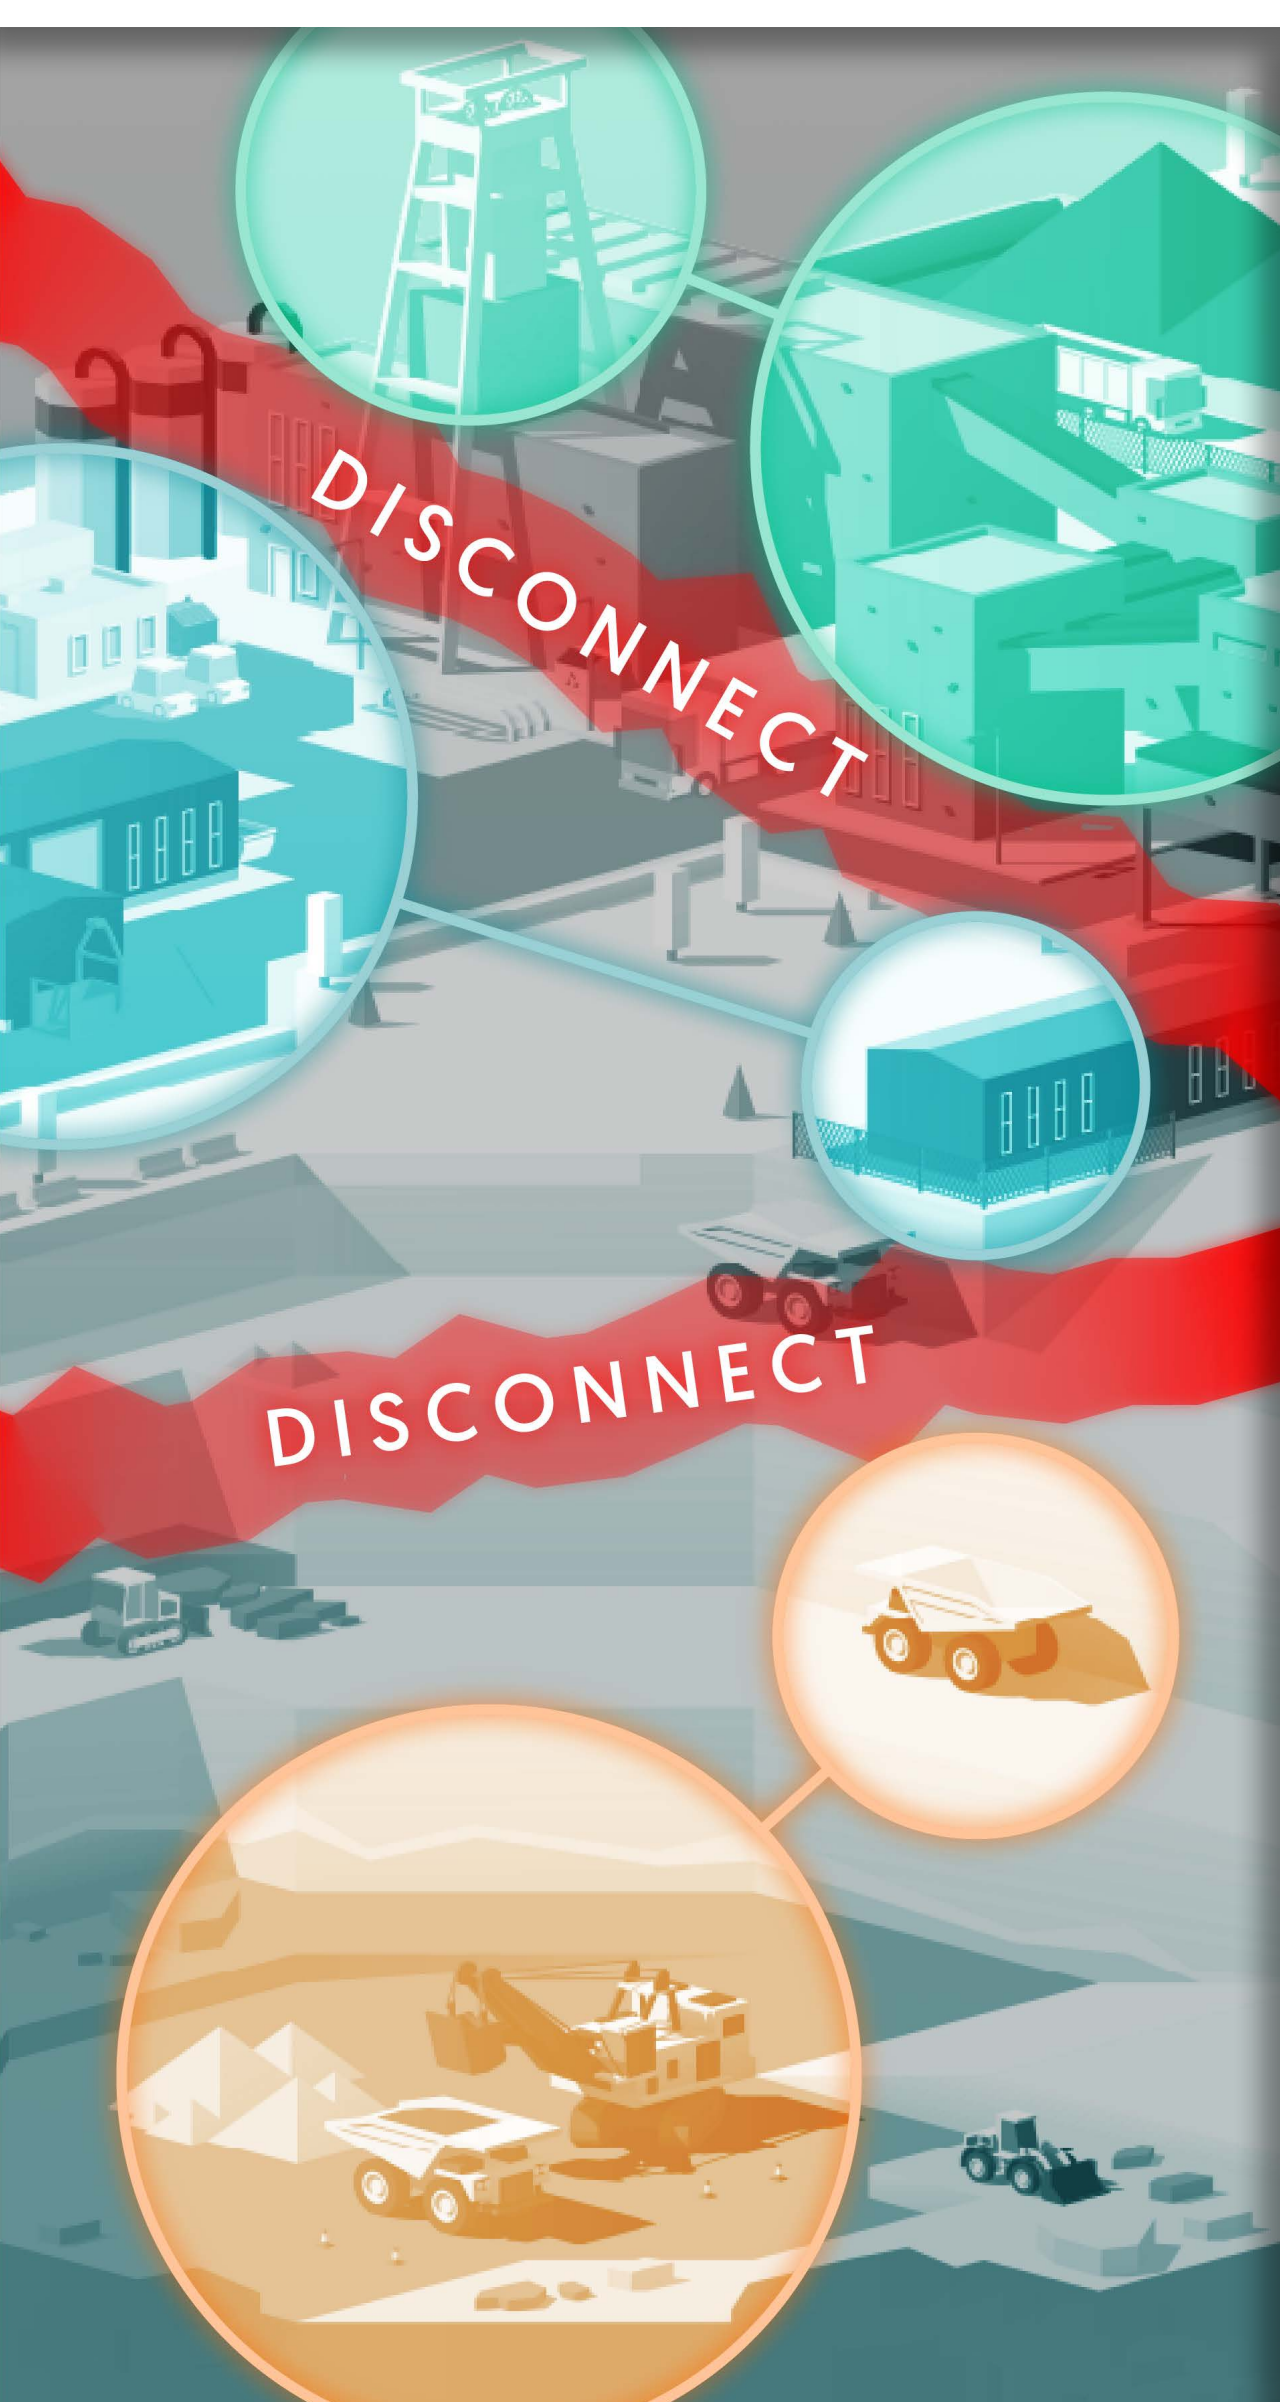

Product Platforms vs. an Enterprise Knowledge Performance System (EKPS)

SourceOne® EKPS

Enterprise Knowledge Performance System

Eclipse Mining Technologies

Do you know what they are and how they differ from an EKPS?

Product Platforms

- Own the data that you generate when using their software
- Only connect a family of software products or modules developed by the same vendor based on similar architecture and common parts
- Provide a particular set of tools for a specific purpose
- Lack true integration with other vendor software
- Result in disconnected or siloed data

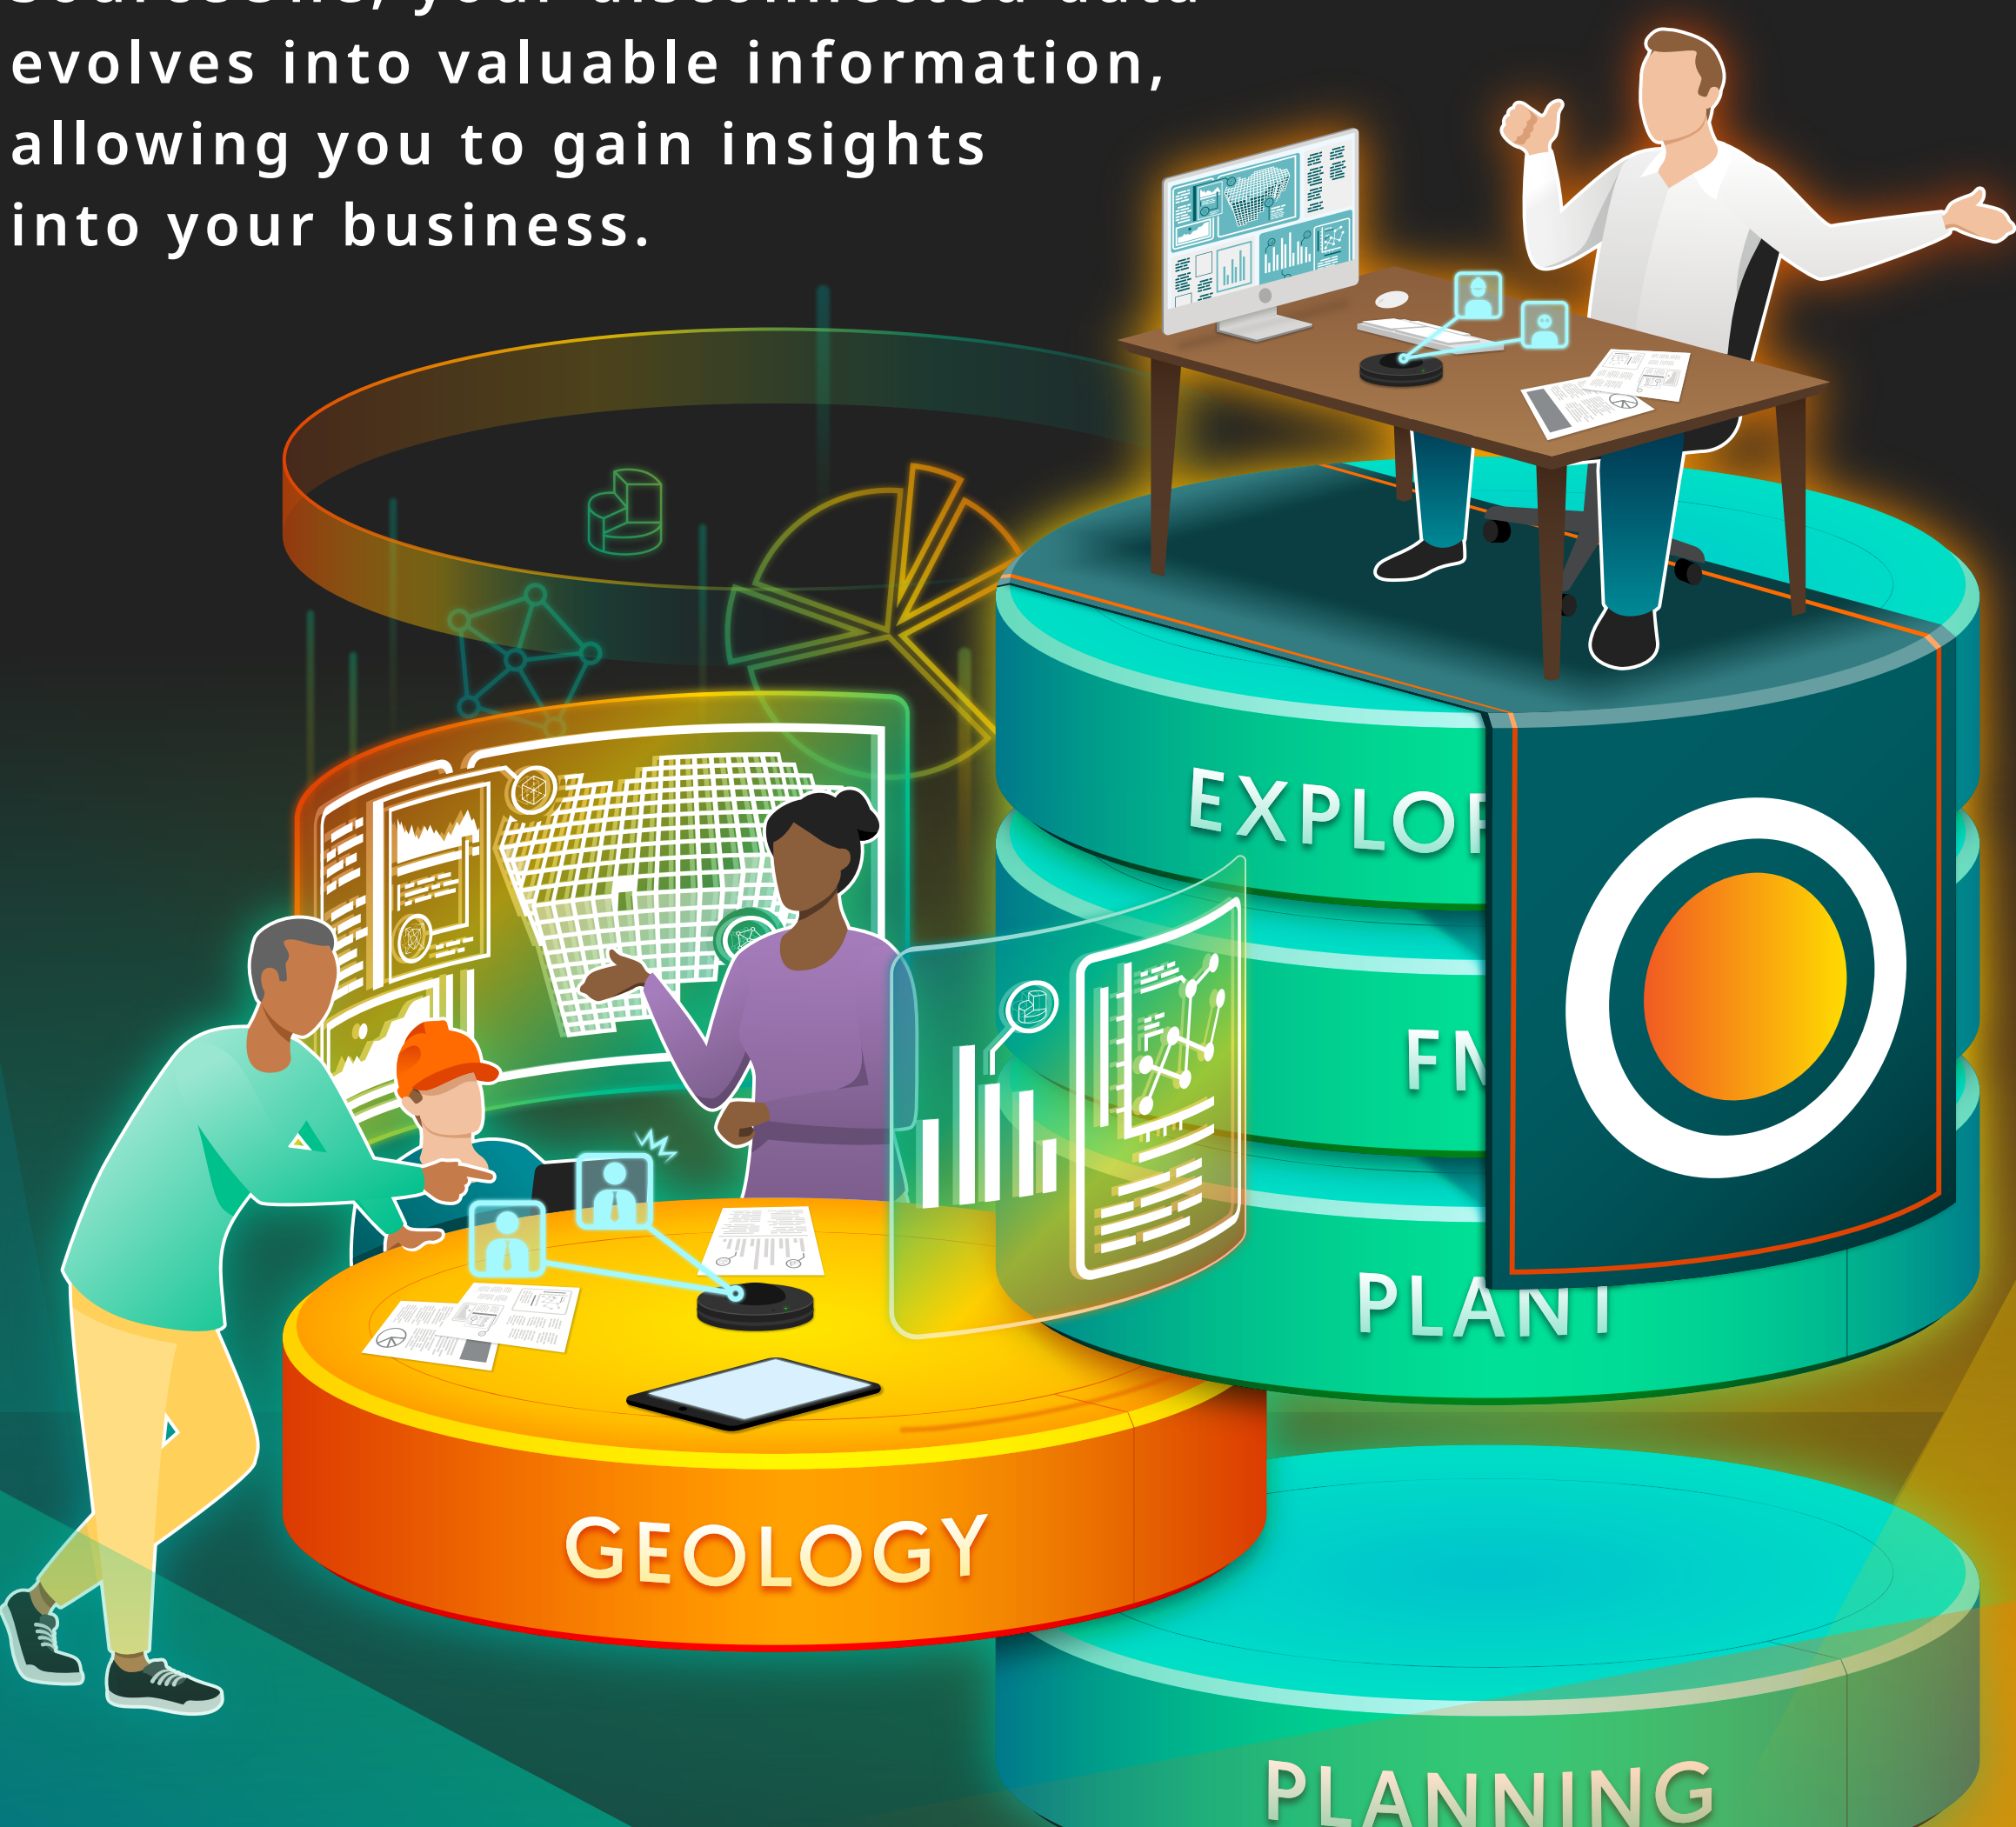

ENTERPRISE KNOWLEDGE PERFORMANCE SYSTEMS

- Provide true data integration
- Makes data accessible in near-real time
- Use ontology to give data meaning with context
- Is built without technology barriers and incorporates the latest in software design
- Automates processes and provides advanced auditability
- Provides one consistent method of reporting
- Gives you full ownership of ALL your data
- Use knowledge graphs to capture relationships and unify disparate information, giving you the answers you seek

SourceOne® EKPS
